About Me

As an IT professional, I have acquired a passion for all things tech! I specialize in network security, web and software development, database management, cybersecurity and IoT, and system management. With years of learning in the IT domain, I'm motivated to bring my skills and expertise to the table to create innovative solutions and drive success in the ever-evolving world of technology.

Work Experience

Data analyst

2022-2023

Webhelp

It was easy to adapt to the work environment since we learned the same techniques for analyzing data and giving reports in database management systems. In the end, we have been working on a project of creating a database from scratch using SDLC techniques until the final code with SQL commands.
